PROFESSIONAL DESIGNATIONS

ACCREDITED PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT ADVISOR (APMA™)

The APMA® certification is administered by the College for Financial Planning (CFFP), a Kaplan Financial Education company. The certification program covers a wide range of financial planning topics, including portfolio management techniques, portfolio theory, asset allocation, risk analysis, investing in mutual funds vs. index funds, retirement planning, debt funding, behavioral finance, and others.

BEHAVIORAL FINANCIAL ADVISOR (BFA™)

The Behavioral Financial Advisor (BFA™) designation is issued by Kaplan Financial Education. No federal or state law requires financial planners to hold BFA certification. The overall goal of the BFA training is to equip advisors to be financial coaches who can help integrate the conventional financial knowledge about markets and investing they've acquired through experience or other education with findings from psychology and neuroscience.

To obtain the right to use the BFA designation, an individual must satisfactorily fulfill the following requirements:

- Education – Completion of 2 courses related to behavioral finance
- Examination – Course exams and final certification exam (online, timed, proctored)

Individuals who become certified must complete 20 hours of continuing education requirements every 2 years in order to maintain the right to continue the use of the BFA designation.

CHARTERED FINANCIAL CONSULTANT (ChFC®)

The ChFC® program covers a list of requirements for financial advisors, from knowledge on tax and retirement planning to special needs advising, wealth management, insurance, income tax, retirement, risk management, estate planning, and investments. Chartered Financial Consultant designations are granted by the American College upon completion of seven required courses and two elective courses. After earning the designation, earning continuing education credits is required.

CHARTERED RETIREMENT PLANNING COUNSELOR, CRPC®

Individuals who hold the CRPC® designation have completed a course of study encompassing pre-and post-retirement needs, asset management, estate planning and the entire retirement planning process using models and techniques from real client situations. Additionally, individuals must pass an end-of-course examination that tests their ability to synthesize complex concepts and apply theoretical concepts to real-life situations. All designees have agreed to adhere to Standards of Professional Conduct and are subject to a disciplinary process. Designees renew their designation every two-years by completing 16 hours of continuing education, reaffirming adherence to the Standards of Professional Conduct and complying with self-disclosure requirements.

CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER™, CFP®

Federally registered CFP (with flame design) marks (collectively, the “CFP® marks”) are professional certification marks granted in the United States by Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. (“CFP Board”).

The CFP® certification is a voluntary certification; no federal or state law or regulation requires financial planners to hold CFP® certification. It is recognized in the United States and a number of other countries for its (1) high standard of professional education; (2) stringent code of conduct and standards of practice; and (3) ethical requirements that govern professional engagements with clients. Currently, more than 71,000 individuals have obtained CFP® certification in the United States.

To attain the right to use the CFP® marks, an individual must satisfactorily fulfill the following requirements:

- Education – Complete an advanced college-level course of study addressing the financial planning subject areas that CFP Board’s studies have determined as necessary for the competent and professional delivery of financial planning services, and attain a Bachelor’s Degree from a regionally accredited United States college or university (or its equivalent from a foreign university). CFP Board’s financial planning subject areas include insurance planning and risk management, employee benefits planning, investment planning, income tax planning, retirement planning, and estate planning;
- Examination – Pass the comprehensive CFP® Certification Examination. The examination includes case studies and client scenarios designed to test one’s ability to correctly diagnose financial planning issues and apply one’s knowledge of financial planning to real world circumstances;
- Experience – Complete at least three years of full-time financial planning-related experience (or the equivalent, measured as 2,000 hours per year); and
- Ethics – Agree to be bound by CFP Board’s Standards of Professional Conduct, a set of documents outlining the ethical and practice standards for CFP® professionals.

Individuals who become certified must complete the following ongoing education and ethics requirements in order to maintain the right to continue to use the CFP® marks:

- Continuing Education – Complete 30 hours of continuing education hours every two years, including two hours on the Code of Ethics and other parts of the Standards of Professional Conduct, to maintain competence and keep up with developments in the financial planning field; and
- Ethics – Renew an agreement to be bound by the Standards of Professional Conduct. The Standards prominently require that CFP® professionals provide financial planning services at a fiduciary standard of care. This means CFP® professionals must provide financial planning services in the best interests of their clients.

CFP® professionals who fail to comply with the above standards and requirements may be subject to CFP Board’s enforcement process, which could result in suspension or permanent revocation of their CFP® certification.

CERTIFICATION FOR LONG-TERM CARE (CLTC®)

Individuals who hold the CRPC® designation have completed a course of study encompassing pre-and post-retirement needs, asset management, estate planning and the entire retirement planning process using models and techniques from real client situations. Additionally, individuals must pass an end-of-course examination that tests their ability to synthesize complex concepts and apply theoretical concepts to real-life situations. All designees have agreed to adhere to Standards of Professional Conduct and are subject to a disciplinary process. Designees renew their designation every two-years by completing 16 hours of continuing education, reaffirming adherence to the Standards of Professional Conduct and complying with self-disclosure requirements.

CHARTERED MUTUAL FUND ADVISOR (CMFC)

Chartered Mutual Fund Counselor (CMFC) is a professional designation for mutual fund advisers. It was previously awarded by the College for Financial Planning, now part of Kaplan, to financial services professionals who completed a study program and passed an exam covering mutual fund topics. While it is no longer a current certification offered by Kaplan/College for Financial Planning, as of 2021, the organization still supports the designation.

CERTIFIED KINGDOM ADVISOR (CKA)

The CKA is a certification designed for professionals serving clients in the Christian faith and who take a values-based approach to financial matters. It involves a course of study that integrates biblical principles with core financial advisory training. Essentially, CKA holders frame their financial expertise within a worldview consistent with Christian teachings.
